PERSONALISING YOUR IDENTITY

Personalising Your Identity

Protecting our clients IP, assets, and personnel is something we take seriously. If you're a security conscious business looking for quality access control options, we'd love to help. As an industry leader in the production of access control cards, your business is in safe hands.

With a range of options available, including magnetic strip or contactless technology, we can produce tailored access control cards that help you quickly identify and monitor people leaving your premises, with a quality finish and durability guaranteed.

What is an Access Control Card?

An access control card acts as a key alongside an access control system, granting or restricting access where required. In most cases, access control cards are the size of a credit/card and contain a company logo with further customisation also available.

They continue to be one of the most popular security cards. The term "access control card" is used across various products, including RFID cards, NFC cards and Plastic ID Cards. They can also feature barcodes and holograms for extra personalisation.

We help you create the ultimate access product, with your designs printed on the core of the card for a superior finish and a long lifespan. Each card can be uniquely customised with printed details such as name, job title etc as well as programmed with a wide variety of data to suit usage, including varying levels of clearance and user information.

Benefits of Using Access Cards

As good as a lock and key are, it doesn't provide the same security levels as an access control system. The data that is encrypted into each card makes it incredibly difficult to duplicate. You can deactivate them if lost/stolen, and they're easy to store.

They can be used for hospitals and public buildings, car parks, libraries and even access to equipment and computers, particularly if you're looking for an option that offers:

Protection - acting as a safeguard for your data, people and work premises

Efficiency - enhancing user experiences with seamless visitor entry

Integration - linking your internal systems together to reduce costs

Compliance - allowing you to meet essential health & safety legislation

Leave It To Swype

When it comes to your access cards, forget about printing them yourself. Stop relying on one of your employees to add it to their list to do, let them focus on the day job and get in touch with us. We'll take away the hassle, save you time and deliver a premium product every time.

As one of the UK's leading manufacturers, our customers and partners continue to choose Swype for our expertise.
